

3ds Max Subscription

Protect your purchase

Subscription is your pipeline to the latest Autodesk software tools, services, and information. Delivering the latest software to you when you need it, the Subscription Program is an easy way to ensure you're always using the best technology without worrying about outdated versions, major upgrades, and unpredictable expenditures.

The annual subscription fee gives you the budgetary advantage of knowing what you've spent on software for the entire year and what you can expect to spend on software next year. All of this comes with a direct link to Autodesk so you're always connected, informed, and one step ahead.

Your annual fee provides for:

- The latest versions of your licensed Autodesk software
- Access to new feature-rich downloadable product extensions
- A selection of downloadable e-Learning training courses (available in English only)
- A single contract number which makes managing your software easier than ever
- Access to the members-only subscription site

Extensions

When you enroll in the Subscription program, you join the more than 40,000 Autodesk® 3ds Max® software artists worldwide who value early access to the very latest 3ds Max features and capabilities. Available exclusively to Autodesk Subscription members, Extensions are downloadable, modular enhancements to 3ds Max software that provide new functionality as it is developed, an Extension may enhance an existing feature, or deliver entirely new features and functionality.

E-Learning

E-learning offers a series of downloadable e-Courses covering the many new features of 3ds Max. E-learning makes it easier to review and incorporate new features into your workflow. With E-learning, the educational process is at your pace as you save time by integrating training into your work process and studying right from your desktop. By building knowledge and skills at your own pace, you can advance through the learning curve of new features, implementing them as needed and as you learn.
